

OUR COMMUNITY PROMISE

Ladies vs. Lust is a safe, inclusive space for people to show up as their fullest selves. We welcome women and LGBTQ+ members from different backgrounds, cultures, identities, beliefs, faiths, races, ethnicities, abilities, ages, socioeconomic backgrounds, and lived experiences.

You do not have to agree with someone to respect them. You do not have to share someone's experience to believe that it matters, and no one should have to defend their identity, dignity, or right to belong here.

Ladies vs. Lust is built for honest conversations about ambition, relationships, power, sexuality, boundaries, professional experiences, personal growth, and the complicated realities that can exist when business and desire collide. We believe women should be able to pursue success without being sexualized, manipulated, pressured, or made to believe that access to their bodies, attention, affection, or personal lives is the price of opportunity.

We can have difficult conversations here. We can disagree. We can challenge ideas. We can share uncomfortable experiences. We can examine our own beliefs and learn from perspectives different from our own.

What we will not do is dehumanize one another.

Bullying, harassment, discrimination, intimidation, hate speech, racial or ethnic slurs, homophobia, transphobia, misogyny, religious hatred, ableism, age-based discrimination, xenophobia, body shaming, sexual harassment, personal attacks, doxxing, retaliation, or targeted hostility of any kind have no place here.

This includes behavior directed at another member because of their identity, beliefs, appearance, relationships, sexuality, gender expression, background, or any other protected or personal characteristic.

Ladies vs. Lust is a place for discernment, growth, honest conversation, accountability, and empowerment; not a place to tear people down.

Community guidelines are not suggestions. They are the foundation of this space. Participation in Ladies vs. Lust means agreeing to follow these standards and to contribute to the kind of community we are intentionally building.

Violations may result in content removal, loss of access to specific channels or features, warnings, temporary suspension, or removal from the community. Serious violations, including harassment, discrimination, threats, targeted hostility, privacy violations, sexual misconduct, or behavior that creates a significant safety concern, may result in immediate and permanent removal.

Protecting this community protects everyone in it.

If you are here, you are agreeing to help create a space where people can be ambitious, vulnerable, different, imperfect, curious, and fully themselves without fear of being bullied, discriminated against, sexualized, targeted, or dehumanized.

Come as you are. Respect who is sitting beside you. Leave the hate at the door.
